Subject: Re: Waldroop/Ferrari issue

So, Mr. Ferrari is going around stirring up trouble is what my client tells me that's from Ellicot. Again, due to the shortages and demands of last summer that specific client decided he did not want to wait any further and decided to break his agreement as well.. the difference between you two is he acts like a decent human being, and we mutually agreed that I purchase back what was delivered to him less a restocking fee.

Talk about waste of time, while you and John Owens are out smearing me, I was putting together a big project and you may have just this week cost me a 1.1-million-dollar contract that was complete and good to go until they saw your "website slander lies and deception machine". If I lose the project, I will promise this.. I may be financially strapped today, but I've been down before, and I have way too many friends I can go to for help to finance an Attorney to wipe you off the planet with strategic litigation so I'm going To give you some sound advice. You better hope you've done nothing wrong, because if you have, I will find it and you better hope I am the man you're out saying I am because slandering my name to everyone is about to become very expensive for you. I will know tomorrow if you've interfered with a project I was told to prepare a proposal on because I was told by the client "done deal"

Court doesn't bother me especially when it gets to the "hearing of assets" phase and I'm taking everything you own. Man, you are so clumsy, egotistical, insecure and very clueless when it comes to my abilities. I've been very professional with you, and you have taken it as a weakness. I have more cards up my sleeve and backup plans than you can ever imagine.. Don't take my word for it just wait and see for yourself. Oh, and John Owens, well Hes not even in your league and when I lien his personal home Hes going to pay me if Hes not broke. Just hope I don't lose my contract over your bs because that is what will get me very motivated, and it will be the beginning of an end for you financially. I almost feel sorry for you.

May the best man win
